INDEPENDENT.

From the Tribune.
THE UNHEARD.
 BY A. FLETCHER.

Cold is the night and bleak the sky: Loud sweep the winds in anger by:
 Of anguish deep, and wild, and loud; Like one, in suffering, lowly bowed.
 Hush! 'tis the orphan's pleading cry—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And from the night-winds shield my head
 Or else, O God, I die—I die!

'Tis midnight hour, and on the street There comes the sound of trembling feet,
 And flitting rags, 'mid storm and sleet, While o'er the fearful tempest's moan Echoes a deep and hollow groan:
 It is the outcast's bitter cry—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And from the night-winds shield my head,
 Or else, O God, I die—I die!

The embers on the hearth are low, Through broken casement drives the snow,
 And fiercer still the wild winds blow Around that dark and cheerless shed, Where from a cold, unwhispered bed, There comes a faint and whisp'ring sigh—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And shield me from the night-winds dread,
 Or else, O God, I die—I die!

In gilded parlor, safe and warm,
 And heedless of the howling storm, Young Beauty sways her jeweled form, While on her delf and listless ear There falls, unheard, that sound so clear, As on the breeze it echoes by—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And from the night-winds shield my head,
 Or else, O God, I die—I die!

The giddy dance goes gaily on,
 Their forms displayed in lace and lawn,
 And mirth and music ring till dawn;
 But still upon the sweeping gale There comes a sad and mournful wail, Like some lost spirit wandering night—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And from the night-winds shield my head,
 Or else, O God, I die—I die!

The church-bell echoes on the air,
 The rich robes and fashion glitter there;
 But on the blast there comes unheard,
 By those who trace the Holy Word, That long and loud beseeching cry—
 O give me warmth, and give me bread,
 And shield us from the night-winds dread, Or else, O God, we die—we die!
 Massillon, Ohio, Jan., 1871.

PEACE.

The horrors of war are just now making a deeper impression than ever on the popular mind, owing to the close contact with the battle field and the hospital, and the newspaper have brought the public of all civilized countries. Wars are fought out now, so to speak, under every man's and woman's eyes; and what is perhaps of nearly as much importance, the growth of commerce and manufactures, and the increase in complication of the social machine, render the small est derangement of it anywhere a concern and a trouble to all other nations.

Now, what are the agencies which operate in producing the frame of mind which makes people ready to go to war on small provocation? They are, first of all, the presence in the press, and elsewhere, of the false, damnable and pernicious doctrine, that one nation gains by another's losses, and can be made happy by its misery; that the United States, for instance, profits in the long run by the prostration of France, Germany, or England; that America can no more gain by French or German ruin, than New York can gain by that of Massachusetts. Secondly, there is no medieval doctrine that the less commercial intercourse nations carry on with each other, the better for both, and that markets won or kept by force are means of gain.

There has probably been no more fruitful source of war than this. It has for three centuries desolated the world, and all peace associations should fix on it, whenever they encounter it, the mark of the beast. Thirdly, there is the tendency of the press, which is now the great moulder of public opinion, to take what we may call the pugilist's view of international controversies. The habit of taunting foreign disputants, sneering at the cowardice or weakness of the one who shows any sign of reluctance in drawing the sword, and counting up the possible profit to its own country of one or other being well thrashed, in which it so frequently indulges, has inevitably the effect not only of goading the disputants into hostilities, but of connecting in the popular mind at home the idea of unreasonableness or unwillingness to fight with baseness, and meanness, and material disadvantage.

Last of all, and most important of all, it is the duty of peace societies to cherish and exalt the idea of law as the only true controller of international relations, and discourage and denounce their submission to sentiment the history of growth amongst human beings in the habit of submitting their dealings with each other to the direction of rules of universal application, and their withdrawal of them from the domain of personal feeling. The history of international law is the history of the efforts of a number of nations to state them to induce nations to submit themselves to a similar regime—that is, to substitute precedents of morality, based on general canons of morality, and on principles of municipal law, for the dictates of pride and prejudice, and passion, in their mode of seeking redress or injuries, of interpreting contracts, exchanging services, and carrying on commercial dealings.

Their success thus far has been only partial. A nation, even the most highly civilized is still in its relations with its fellows in a condition somewhat analogous to that of the individual savage. It chooses its friends from whim or fancy, makes enemies through ignorance or caprice, avenges its wrongs in a torrent of rage, or through a cold blooded thirst for plunder, and respects rules and usages only fitfully, and with small attention to the possible effect of its disregard of them on the general welfare. The man or the woman and, let us say, the mother—since that is supposed to be in this discussion a term of peculiar potency—who tries to exert a good influence on public opinion on these points—to teach the brotherhood of man as an economical as well as a moral and religious truth; to spread the belief that war between any two nations is a general calamity to the civilized world; that it is as unchristian and inhuman to non-national combativeness as to rous, individual combativeness; as absurd to associate honor with national wrongdoing as with individual wrongdoing; and that peace among nations, as among individuals, is and can only be the product of general reverence for law and general distrust of feeling —may rest assured that he or she is doing far more to bring war to an end than can be done by the most fervid accounts of the physical suffering it causes.—The Nation.

SHORT TRIPS TO EUROPE.

Many Americans are deterred from visiting Europe by the disturbed condition of affairs in France, and many others by the mistaken notion that one must have a long vacation if he would make a pleasant trip across the water.

To the first difficulty we have no answer to offer if Paris be included in any one's plan of travel. It is as well to wait a while. We are not of those who think the prestige of Paris forever gone, nor is there any reason to imagine that the French capital has suffered any diminution of splendor or gayety. On the contrary, a month of calm and perfect peace will undoubtedly remove every trace of the effects of war, and Paris will be Paris for a century. The trees in the Bois de Boulogne will be missed; but no more than in the Central Park of New York where they are yet to grow; and the drives will be as thronged and as brilliant hereafter as heretofore. Some fashions will rule supreme for some time to come, and certainly until some other people learn that indescribable something of taste and grace which distinguishes the French dress-makers.

But the general notion that a short visit to Europe is not worth making, is a great error, and in these days of rapid transit should be dismissed from the mind of every one who has the means and desire to travel. For travel is worth doing. It is education, and a very great part of education. It helps immensely in enabling men to measure themselves. It reduces egotism, while it cultivates just pride in one's own country and its institutions. It fits the young for reading and for application.
 It is worth much while one is traveling, and worth vastly more for years after one has come home.

The purpose of this article is to help those who may desire to know what they can do in a brief time on the other side of the water.

And firstly and chiefly, all travelers for long or short time are apt to err in the desire to do too much. It is safe to say that many years may be passed in European travel without accomplishing all that could be done, and done with interest and profit. The traveler who expects to do Europe in two years finds himself as thoroughly mistaken as the one who thought to do it in one, or in six months. It would be vastly better for all who travel to direct their thoughts toward one country, where they design to pass most of their time, and leave others as excursions of pleasure. Who that knows Switzerland at all will imagine that he could see all its glories and fill himself to satisfaction with the beauties and magnificence of its scenery in one, two or five summers?

Happy is he who can find two or three months of leisure for a run to Europe, since in that time he can see so much that he has a treasure within himself forever after out of which he can draw endless delight. His books become new to him, and new books have new value. He lives his travels over again with all the pleasure of one who has passed years in wandering.

One may go from New York to Berlin, and see the triumph capital of the German Empire and the grand hea-goes of Kanbach, and be at his work in New York again in thirty days.
 One may leave this city on the first of the month, he dreaming in his gondola for three or four golden evenings and reach New York again before the end of the month. Take these two skeleton facts, and on their dry bones build up as many days of rosy travel as you give yourself and family this summer—Wm C. PARKER, in Harper's Magazine for June.

WHAT THE RUN-MONEY WOULD DO.

It is estimated that a very fair college can be properly built, equipped, and permanently endowed for 400,000.
 It is so, the amount paid for liquor to be drunk on the premises where sold would build one thousand colleges (400,000,000) found one thousand libraries, of 50,000 each at three dollars per volume ($150,000,000) found five thousand asylums or other charitable institutions at $200,000, ($100,000,000) and with the remainder, (183,000,000) a homestead worth two thousand dollars could be furnished to every voter in Connecticut.

This is no fancy picture, but the amount of the same here mentioned.
 $1,483,000,000, is the value of the sales by the retail liquor dealers as given in the official reports of 1871; and is equal to $1843 for every man, woman, and child in the country; and more than one half of the national debt. Let those who complain about taxation remember this, that the "Run Money" alone would pay the national debt in two years.

children with eyes undimmed, and hearts uncantered. Such a generation as this is possible in America; and to such a generation as this, the persistent, conscientious work of the public press is entirely competent, as an instrumentality. The press can do what it will; and if it will faithfully do its duty, Maine laws will come to be things unthought of, and temperance reformers and temperance organizations will become extinct.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

State Republican Central and Executive Committee Rooms, Columbus, O., May 2, 1871.
 To the Republican voters of Ohio.

Your annual state convention will be held at Columbus, on Wednesday, the 21st day of June, 1871, for the nomination of candidates for the following offices, viz:
 Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, Treasurer of State, Auditor of State, Attorney General, State Commissioner of Schools, Clerk of Supreme Court, Member of Board of Public Works.

The undersigned committee recommend that the meetings of the several counties for the selection of delegates be held on Saturday, June 10.
 The basis of representation in the convention will be one delegate for every five hundred votes cast for General Sherwood, for Secretary of State, 1870, and one additional delegate for any fraction or two hundred and fifty votes and upwards, in each county.

The committee respectfully suggest the importance of a full delegation from each county to the convention.
 The issues to be decided in the present campaign are of vital interest to the country.

The importance of thorough local organization cannot be too strongly urged; nor can this great auxiliary to final success be too early attended to.
 In this connection the committee would earnestly recommend that where county committees have not already been selected, that in the call for county conventions, on the 10th day of June, notice be given that the county central committees for the coming campaign will be selected at that time.

It is important that each delegation to the state convention bring with them a correct list of the officers and members, with postoffice address, of the committees of their county, and deliver the same to this committee.

Very Respectfully,
 R. D. HARRISON,
 Ohio State Executive Com.
 ROONEY FOOS, Sec'y.

A QUAIN OLD SHEET.

A very old newspaper is in possession of Dr. J. H. Besse, of Delaware, Ohio.
 It is a copy of the New England Courant, and bears date "from Monday, February 4, to Monday, Feb. 11, 1733." The paper is therefore over 147 years old. It is printed on coarse material very much resembling in texture and appearance that on which Confederate newspapers were printed in the stress of war times. The type is of the real antique style, and looks odd enough to the eye familiar with the modern clear-cut Roman. But that which gives most interest to this strange relic of the past, says a Delaware paper, is the fact stated in the following imprint: "Printed and sold by Benjamin Franklin, in Queen street, where advertisements are taken in." Franklin was born in 1708. He was therefore, at the time of the publication of this sheet, 17 years of age. In the course of an introductory article the editor says: "The main design of this weekly paper will be to entertain the town with the most comical and diverting incidents of human life, which, in so

A DONATION PARTY.
Somewhere in Pennsylvania there is a Presbyterian clergyman, whose nominal salary is $450 a year. But it was six months in arrears, and the congregation determined to give him a donation party to help him along.
It came off—the donation party did.
The entire flock was on hand, but of the presents there were only six rilling pins, and pen wipers, and a quarter of a peck of dried apples, crop of 1861.
The minister of course, had to furnish refreshments; and the company not only discouraged four hams, three and a half pounds of sixty cent butter and thirteen loaves of bread, but ate up two pounds of sugar, and all the next winter's preserves.
To crown all, four spoons were missing.
The clergyman says he wants to have just one more donation party, and then he will close up his business and begin life over again as a pauper in the almshouse.
He is particularly down on one sister, who jammed herself full of ham and preserves and enough of other succulent diet to keep the rest of the family for a week, and then lay up against the wall, pretending to be religious, and singing, "There is rest for the weary."

A man in Georgia has found a diamond weighing about 35 pounds. It must be of the first water and very valuable, for he has refused $25 for it.

A rope has just been completed at Birmingham, England, which is about six miles long, five and a quarter inches in circumference, and weighs over sixty tons.

Maples large enough to make three ten foot rails each, with 4000 trees to the acre, have been raised from the seed in seven years in Monroe county Iowa.

Hall's Journal of Health says, a six-penny sandwich, eaten leisurely in the cars, is better for you than a dollar dinner, bolted at a station.

Two girls in a small town in Ohio run a blacksmith shop all by themselves. They dress in bloomers costume, and shoe a horse just as well as a man.

John Chinaman being asked to take a drink said, "No, whisky make China man one first rate fool." The poor heathen Chinese!

Seven years of careful inquiry are needed for a man to learn the truth, fourteen in order to learn how to make it known to his fellow men.

An old gentleman being asked what he wished for dinner, replied, "An appetite, good company, something to eat, and a napkin!"

Suicide statistics state that more men kill themselves than women. Women prefer drowning; men blow their brains out. More single persons commit suicide than married ones, and more divorced persons than widowed.

He lives near Worcester now—the meane t man—and he's a deacon. Not long ago his father and mother died, and his brother buried them. About half a load of earth had to be carted away, and the deacon charged his brother fifty cents for the use of his horse and cart.

A traveler, we are told, being in a wild country where he could find no provisions for himself or dog, cut off the dog's tail and boiled it for his own supper and gave the dog the bone.

Governess—"Why! Harry! Have n't you a kiss for Uncle Potter—and have n't seen him for so long, too?"
Harry—"No, Miss Dorsale. Men—in America at least—don't go kissing each other."

A loquacious young man came to Isocrates to learn the art of oratory. Isocrates asked him double price. Why charge me double? asked the youth. Isocrates replied: "Because I must teach you two sciences—the one how to be silent; the other, how to speak."

"Lo! The Poor Missionary!"—A squaw in central Michigan had a papoose on her arm, exceedingly white for a member of its race, which fact induced a gentleman to ask if it was not half breed, whereon she said: "No, not a drop of white blood about it—half Indian and half missionary."

Daniel Webster once said: "There is nothing upon this earth that can compare with the faithful attachment of a good wife, no creature who, for the object of her love, is so indomitable, so persevering, so ready to suffer and die. Under the most depressing circumstances, woman's weakness becomes a mighty power, her timidity becomes fearless courage, all her shrinking and sinking passes away, and her spirit acquires the firmness of marble—adamantine firmness—when circumstance drive her to put forth all her energies under the inspiration of her affection."

Mark Twain thus prescribes for an aspirant for literary fame:
"Young Author."—Yes, Agassiz does recommend authors to eat fish, because the phosphorus in it makes brain. So far you are correct. But I cannot help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat—at least, not with certainty. If the specimen composition you send is about your fair usual average, I should judge that perhaps a couple of whales would be all you would want for the present. It is the largest kind, but simply good muddling sized whales.

Human Misery.
Just Published in a Sealed Envelope, Price six cents. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of of Spermatorrhea, or Seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impuency, mental and physical incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc.; also, consumption, epilepsy, and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.
The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife, simply pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
Send under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents of two post stamps.

understands your case you know it, and cannot be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, and how you treat it, without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the criticism to go by, and patients should not be satisfied with any other. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.
A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is, not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgement of both patient and physician.
Give Dr. Long a call, and satisfy your-

The Diamond Glasses, Manufactured by
J. E. Spencer & Co., N. Y.
Which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the Most Perfect, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.
They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.
THE SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE on which they are constructed brings the core or center of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision as in the natural, healthy eye, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.
They are Mounted in the Finest Manner in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose.
Their Finish and Durability cannot be surpassed.
CAUTION.—No genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every greater skill in that specialty than any one in general practice.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be sent by mail or express.
The doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail, in sealed envelope, for two stamps. Every sentence contains in-stand to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it one greatest medical discoveries of the age. By its great and thorough, and invigorating properties, it cures all humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple or Eruption.

Mineral Poisons, Syphilitic and Venereal Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution es-
